

#$@%*! Scammers!

Posted by Bob DeWeese, CML, CPS, CJS - Baltimore, MD - USA - on December 05, 2008 at 20:01:17:

Tonight, I (as I do now and then) did as google search to see how my company was coming up.

When I did it, my free listing came up with Google maps. I almost had a stroke when I noticed that someone had gone in and changed the URL to locksmithdepot.com and added two "866" numbers under my real phone number!

Long story short, I went back in, changed my PW, and was able to redirect the link back to my website. Unfortunately though, I couldn't find any way to remove their phone numbers.

I contacted google (doubt it will do any good) and made a note where you can add "reviews", stating that the 866 ARE NOT ours.

I called one of the numbers and told them that I saw their ad on google and asked if they were Bear Lock & Safe. They guy on the phone said yes. I told him who I was and went off!

He told me I'd need to contact their "advertising department" (M-F 9-5) and gave me a phone number.

I asked what the name of the company he worked for was and he said "Around the Clock Locksmith". I also asked why when I said "Is this Bear Lock & Safe", he said yes. He said he "misunderstood" what I asked. (Yeah. Right!)

Man I'm pissed!
